Company Update | Kalbe Farma (KLBF IJ/BUY/Rp755/Target: Rp1,000)

Page 2 →

- 9M26 net profit grew 4% yoy, slightly ahead of expectations, supported by solid revenue growth and tighter opex control, which cushioned margin pressure. 2026 earnings growth should remain positive as API costs stabilise. Meanwhile, innovation and expansion continue across segments, backed by a strong balance sheet and an ongoing Rp500b share buyback. Maintain BUY, with a lower target price of Rp1,000 (from Rp1,100), based on 11.0x 2027F PE (-1SD below its three-year forward average).

Kalbe Farma (KLBF IJ)

Bottom Line Stays Positive Amid Margin Pressure

Highlights

- 9M26 net profit grew 4% yoy (above expectations), as solid sales and opex control offset margin pressure. With API costs stabilising, 2026 profit growth should stay positive.
- Product innovation across segments should sustain volume growth. The company also has a strong balance sheet and an ongoing Rp500b buyback.
- Maintain BUY with a lower target price of Rp1,000 (from Rp1,100), based on 11.0x 2027F PE (-1SD below its three-year forward average).

Analysis

- Bottom line to stay positive despite margin pressure. Kalbe Farma's (KLBF) 9M26 net profit rose 4% yoy to Rp2.74t, slightly above expectations (79%/80% of our/consensus 2026 forecasts respectively), on 11.5% yoy revenue growth to Rp29t, largely volume-driven, as ASP hikes (3-5%) were limited to selected consumer health products. Gross margin fell to 37.6% (9M25: 40.6%) on higher oil-linked active pharmaceutical ingredients (API) costs (~15% of COGS), a weaker rupiah and a generics-heavy prescription mix (gross margin of 46% vs 51%). Lower promotion and G&A spending cut opex-to-sales to 25.7% (9M25: 27.9%), cushioning the margin squeeze. On a positive note, management noted that API costs have stabilised from their 2Q26 peak, supporting a gross margin recovery to 37.8% in 3Q26 (2Q26: 36.8%), with margins expected to remain stable in 4Q26. This should keep positive earnings growth in 2026 achievable, in line with guidance. A more meaningful recovery in 2027 hinges on rupiah stability and oil prices.
- Leading defensive pharma, more resilient in a challenging market. KLBF's scale, own distribution network and strong net cash position place it in a better position than most to absorb higher raw material costs and a weaker rupiah. Its pharma market share has risen to about 14% from ~11% in 2022. This was supported by continued gains in unbranded generics, which was the fastest-growing category in 3Q26, as BPJS and private hospitals shift away from branded products. In consumer health, KLBF's brands also lead with 30-70% market share across key over-the-counter (OTC) categories.
- Innovation and expansion continue across segments. In pharma, KLBF is moving into biologics, including Efesa for kidney disease and Zerpidio for oncology, with local insulin and GLP-1 production next. In 9M26, nutritionals revenue returned to growth (+4.1% yoy) as its shift toward lifestyle and ready-to-drink products like Hydrococo gained traction.

Company Description

Kalbe Farma is Indonesia's largest pharmaceutical company, with businesses in prescription pharmaceuticals, consumer health, nutritionals, and distribution & logistics.

The consumer health segment continued to refresh its portfolio with launches such as Extra Joss Ultimate amid rising health awareness, lifting gross margin to 64.9% (9M25: 64.4%). Distribution grew fastest (+21.6% yoy) on principals added last year, notably Bayer Pharma, though growth should normalise as the base effect fades.

- Buyback execution. KLBF is executing a share buyback programme of up to Rp500b (17 Sep-17 Dec 26), equivalent to ~3.7% of its free float shares. It had repurchased 166.6m shares as of end-Oct 26, accounting for around 25% of the programme (implied average price of ~Rp750/share). Treasury shares stood at 1.7b shares (3.70% of total shares) as of Oct 26, which management said can be held until 2028.
- Strong balance sheet; dividend payout to normalise. KLBF remains in a solid net cash position of Rp5.3t (net gearing: -0.21x), providing ample flexibility for M&A, which management is actively exploring. Around 50% of cash is now USD-denominated, turning its net forex position into a Rp2.3t net asset, providing a natural hedge given its ~90% imported raw materials. Meanwhile, inventory days remain elevated at 124 (target: 110-115) as KLBF built up stock to secure raw material supply. This contributed to a lower 2025 dividend payout of Rp20/share, implying a ~26% payout ratio (2025: 52%). However, management remains committed to its 50-60% payout policy, implying a potential 2027 dividend yield of ~5.5% at a 50% payout.

Earnings Revision/Risk

- We raise our 2026-27 net profit forecasts by 8.0% and 1.9% respectively on the back of higher revenue (+2.4%/+2.7%) and lower opex from more efficient promotion spending. We keep our 2026 gross margin broadly unchanged at 37.7%, but lower 2027 gross margin forecast to 37.8% (from 38.6%), as we expect only a gradual recovery, with a more meaningful improvement dependent on the rupiah and oil prices.
- Key risks include: a) further rupiah depreciation and oil-linked raw material cost increases, b) weak purchasing power, c) pricing pressure in unbranded generics, and d) regulatory changes.

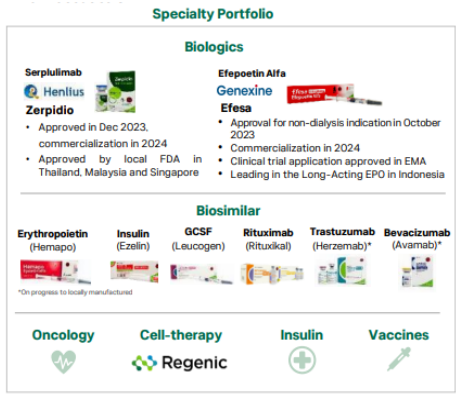

Valuation/Recommendation

- Maintain BUY with a lower target price of Rp1,000 (from Rp1,100), based on 11x 2027F PE (-1SD below its three-year forward average), as we roll over our valuation to 2027. Although we raise our 2026-27 net profit forecasts, we lower our target multiple from 15x PE to reflect higher country risk and margin uncertainty from oil-linked raw material costs and rupiah depreciation. KLBF's share price has fallen by 37.3% ytd and now trades at an undemanding 8.3x 2027F PE (-1.7SD below its three-year forward average).

Share Price Catalyst

- Catalysts: a) 4Q26 results, b) progress on insulin and GLP-1 production, c) execution of its share buyback, and d) oil price stabilisation.

Technical BUY with 5.5% potential return

Resistance:	Rp2,860, Rp2,950
Support:	Rp2,650, Rp2,460
Stop-loss:	Rp2,730

Share price closed higher and formed a bullish candlestick. Price advanced with better momentum; hence, we see potential for price to make more rallies ahead and challenge the resistance at Rp2,860 and Rp2,950. Technical indicator RSI is sloping upwards and approaching its midline, while the Stochastic has just given a bullish signal. Buy at Rp2,800 and take profit at Rp2,950.

Approximate timeframe: 2-4 weeks.

Our institutional research has a fundamental HOLD and target price of Rp3,690.
