Page 2 →

- 9M26 net profit reached US$517m, accounting for 72% of our 2026 estimate. Nevertheless, 4Q26 metallurgical coal sales will depend on Barito River's water levels amid ongoing logistical constraints, making the 2026 sales volume dependent on Barito River's levels. KAI targets aluminium production of 370,000 tonnes and sales of 300,000-340,000 tonnes in 2026. We estimate a potential 14.2% 2027 dividend yield, assuming an 80% payout. Maintain BUY on ADRO with a lower SOTP-based target price of Rp3,240.

Alamtri Resources Indonesia (ADRO IJ)

Solid Earnings Momentum From Aluminium Production Ramp-up

Highlights

- KAI's full-scale operations strengthen earnings diversification. KAI targets 2026 production of 370,000 tonnes and sales of 300,000-340,000 tonnes, supporting a higher aluminium earnings contribution in 4Q26.
- Weather disruptions constrain metallurgical coal sales. 4Q26 sales will depend on the recovery of Barito River water levels following logistical disruptions caused by prolonged extreme dry weather conditions.
- Maintain BUY with a lower target price of Rp3,240 (previous: Rp3,400).

Analysis

- Strong 9M26 earnings of US$517m. Alamtri Resources Indonesia's (ADRO) 3Q26 net profit increased 14.3% qoq to US$207.2m (+63.6% yoy), as minority interest jumped to US$70.3m (2Q26: US$4.3m) as its new aluminium segment started contributing to earnings. ADRO's 9M26 net profit increased by 71% yoy to US$517m, accounting 72% of our 2026 and 83% of consensus.
- Aluminium operations achieve full-scale production. Following the completion of its production ramp-up and transition to full-scale operations in 3Q26, Kalimantan Aluminium Industry (KAI) is targeting 2026 production of 370,000 tonnes and sales volume of 300,000-340,000 tonnes. With production reaching 249,000 tonnes and sales totalling 146,000 tonnes in 9M26, KAI is positioned to ramp up its contribution in 4Q26. Around 98% of aluminium sales are directed to export markets.
- Weather constraints limit sales volume. Metallurgical coal sales volume declined by 13% yoy to 3.85mt in 9M26, mainly due to logistical disruptions caused by prolonged extreme dry weather conditions during 3Q26, which have persisted into November. Consequently, shipments were deferred and 4Q26 sales will depend on the Barito River water level, which needs to rise to 19.6 metres from the current 16-18 metres. ADRO expects 2026 sales volume of 5.0-5.5mt, subject to improvements in the Barito River water level.
- We expect 2027 earnings to remain solid at US$765m. With KAI operating at full capacity, we expect aluminium production to reach 500,000 tonnes in 2027. We also expect the logistical disruptions along the Barito River caused by prolonged extreme weather to normalise in 2027, supporting a 9.4% yoy recovery in coal sales volume. Accordingly, we forecast 2027 net profit of US$765m (+5.5% yoy).
- Attractive dividend yield. If the green project delays are prolonged, we expect 2027's dividend yield to come in at 14.2%, assuming an 80% payout.

Company Description

Alamtri Resources Indonesia previously known as Adaro Energy Indonesia, this company focuses on metallurgical coal mining, mineral processing, mining services, and renewable energy businesses. It envisions becoming a leading Indonesian mining and energy group.

- Strong 3Q26 financial performance supported by aluminium contribution. ADRO recorded revenue of US$902.3m (+84.0% yoy; +70.8% qoq), as KAI commenced commercial aluminium sales of US$522.4m (146,000 tonnes) after the smelter reached full capacity. Net profit increased 14.3% qoq to US$207.2m (+63.6% yoy), as minority interest jumped to US$70.3m (2Q26: US$4.3m) as its new aluminium segment started contributing to earnings. In 9M26, ADRO recorded revenue of US$1.90b, representing 41% yoy growth, primarily driven by the commencement of commercial aluminium sales. Gross profit increased by 67% yoy to US$776m, while operating income rose by 97% to US$700m. Net profit increased by 71% yoy to US$517m accounting 72% of our 2026 and 83% of consensus forecasts.
- Aluminium shifting from a deficit to a surplus in 2027. Wood Mackenzie expects the global aluminium market to shift from an estimated deficit of 850,000 tonnes in 2026 to a surplus of approximately 500,000 tonnes in both 2027 and 2028, driven by recovering Middle Eastern smelter production and capacity additions, particularly from Indonesia. Global aluminium supply is forecast to increase by 4.0% in 2027 and 2.0% in 2028, compared with demand growth of around 2.2%. The increasing supply is expected to put pressure on aluminium prices, with average prices forecast at US$2,910/tonnes in 2027 and US$2,800/tonnes in 2028. In Indonesia, ADRO's KAI Phase II expansion, with an additional capacity of 500,000tpa, is included in Wood Mackenzie's forecast, with production expected to commence in 2028. However, uncertainty over project commissioning timelines and the pace of Indonesian metal reaching international markets could moderate the anticipated supply surplus.

Valuation/Recommendation

- Maintain BUY with a lower SOTP-based target price of Rp3,240 (from Rp3,400), as we have rolled over valuation to 2027. ADRO remains attractive due to: a) the full operation of KAI, b) a potential increase in production in 2027 by 500,000 tonnes, c) elevated coal prices, and d) dividend yield of 14.2% in 2027.

Source: ADRO, UOB Kay Hian

- We raise our 2026 earnings forecast by 1.3% and lower our 2027 earnings forecast by 5.0%, reflecting higher coal inventory consumed that reduced cogs and aluminium sales volume assumptions for 2026, alongside a lower sales volume assumption for 2027.

Share Price Catalyst

- a) Coal and aluminium prices remaining high for an extended period of time, b) potential interim dividend.
